

Study on the Value and Approach of Labor Education in Private Colleges and Universities

Zhanfu Jing

Wenzhou Business College, Wenzhou, Zhejiang 325000, China

Abstract: At present, under the continuous reform of the education system, the development of college education is also constantly optimizing and innovating. At the present stage, the educational goals of labor education have begun to be implemented in private colleges and universities. This paper analyzes the significance of labor education in private colleges and universities, and puts forward ways to improve the effectiveness of labor education in private colleges and universities for reference, hoping that private colleges and universities can fully reflect the value of labor education.

Keywords: Private Colleges And Universities; Value Of Labor Education; Way To Explore.

1. INTRODUCTION

In today's social development background, its material conditions are relatively rich, so that college students are lack of labor consciousness. On current college students in the survey can be found that college students have to realize that only pay a labor to succeed, but now the students are afraid of failure does not start, for a long time in the past, students dream and dream will become a, there are some students in order to achieve something for nothing, eventually lead to students astray. At present, in the process of developing private college education, it is necessary to apply labor education, so that it can be reflected in labor education through correct ideological value, and finally achieve the all-round development of students.

2. FIRST, THE SIGNIFICANCE OF LABOR EDUCATION IN PRIVATE COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

Cultivation of labor skills and behavioral habits Driven by the current economy, college students are the products of the "exam-oriented education" model, whose main goal is learning, and labor is no longer a necessary ability for students [1]. Under the background of the current education model, college students lack labor skills under the care of their parents. In the previous growth process, they had bad living habits such as clothes and food. A survey of colleges and universities has found that the dormitories of students are dirty, messy and dirty, as well as laziness and tardiness, which are caused by the lack of training of labor skills. Therefore, labor education in private colleges and universities can improve students' labor skills, and on this basis, help students develop good learning habits, so that students can integrate into college life, and also help students develop independent personality.

2.1 The improvement of ideological and moral character and personality quality

College is an important stage for students to transition from school to society, and it is also a correct stage for students to establish their values. Under the reform of education, quality-oriented education has been carried out to promote all-round development of students morally, intellectually, physically and aesthetically. At present, under the influence of western culture and other concepts, college students lack labor consciousness, and at the same time, there are phenomena such as ignoring labor achievements, which are mainly caused by the lack of efficient labor education. At present, private colleges and universities have begun to integrate labor education into college education, and conduct in-depth research on the way of labor education, so that college students can form correct values during school, promote students to achieve all-round development, and provide more comprehensive talents for the society.

2.2 The training of employability and collective consciousness

The employment of college students is a problem that needs to be paid attention to in the current society. During this period, colleges and universities should strengthen the cultivation of students' employment ability [2]. Combined with the actual situation, with the development of market economy, the employment pressure in colleges and universities has been increasing in recent years. Employers not only pay attention to academic qualifications, but also begin to pay attention to the comprehensive ability of students. This requires private colleges to temper students' willpower through labor practice when carrying out labor education, so that their students can correctly establish the concept of labor, and at the same time, correct the attitude of facing up to the achievements of labor. In the process of labor education in privately-run colleges and universities, students' hands-on ability should be exercised so as to enhance their labor knowledge learning and innovation ability. When carry out labor education, also can strengthen the communication between students, Shared with other students to achieve work achievement, at the same time also can effectively enhance the collective consciousness of university students, enhance the communication ability of students, guide students in the process of the relationship between the individual and the collective, social analysis and make it can promote students to better fit into society after graduation.

According to the above analysis, it can be seen that labor education carried out by private colleges and universities can improve the competitiveness of students in employment, and its labor education is consistent with the goal of talent training in colleges and universities.

3. WAYS TO IMPROVE THE EFFECTIVENESS OF LABOR EDUCATION IN PRIVATE COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

3.1 Innovating labor education methods

Under the rapid development of the current society, labor needs to be effectively integrated with education. the main scope of activities of college students is school, family and society, which is also the main place for students to carry out labor education. Private colleges and universities should integrate labor education with other disciplines to realize the whole process of labor education in private colleges and universities. In the improvement of labor education curriculum, labor economics, labor management and other courses can be formulated, and various labor courses should be analyzed, and appropriate subjects should be included in the compulsory courses of middle school students in private colleges and universities. In the development of labor education, it can also cooperate with school logistics to create labor opportunities for students. Colleges and universities can set up "student public welfare labor service area" to enable students to participate in labor work. Some colleges and universities in our country have included labor education in credit assessment, and also set up two compulsory courses of labor practice and labor skills, which can promote the improvement of labor education in private colleges and universities.

3.2 Improving the effectiveness of labor and education

When private colleges and universities carry out labor education, the evaluation system of labor education should be reasonably constructed so as to improve the effect of labor education in colleges and universities [3]. When constructing the evaluation system of labor education, college students should be defined as the subject of labor education, and students' performance in labor practice should be taken as the evaluation basis. In the development of labor education work should be paid attention to family, school and society, to ensure that the three can achieve close contact, in this process of students in the labor practice of labor attitude, labor quality and other aspects of evaluation, but also should be filled in the student labor education record form. In the construction of the labor evaluation mechanism, students' labor ability should be evaluated from the four links of labor concept, labor consciousness, labor skills and labor habits, and the evaluation index should be quantified, and the evaluation of students' labor should be included in the comprehensive evaluation standard of students, so as to enhance students' attention to labor. In carrying out labor education, private colleges and universities should combine theory and practice, and evaluate theory and practice separately in the education process, so that students can realize the common improvement of labor theory and practice. In the development of labor education, relevant incentive measures should also be formulated to enhance students' enthusiasm in labor practice, effectively eliminate students' lazy thinking, so that it can achieve the improvement of students' labor ability.

4. CONCLUSION

To sum up, in the context of the current era, the improvement of people's living standards makes students have food and clothing, and their primary task in growth is learning, but this learning mode cannot promote students to achieve all-round development. Under the reform of education, quality-oriented education has been carried out so that it can promote students to achieve all- round development. Private colleges and universities now begin to pay attention to labor education. the development of labor education can improve students' labor ability and labor consciousness, so that it can promote students to achieve all-round development, and transport high-quality talents for social development.

REFERENCES

- [1] Huang Hongsong, Shi Junfeng, Liang Honge. Study on the Implementation Path of Labor Education for Private College Students in the New Era [J]. Yellow River. Loess. Yellow Race, 2021(11):48-49.
- [2] Yan Yufeng, ZHU Ming. Problems and improvement strategies of labor education for College Students in private colleges [J]. Writer's World, 2020(16):93+95.
- [3] Wu Xiongsheng, Wu Wenhua. Improving ideological and Political Work in Private Colleges with Labor Education [J]. Jiangxi Education, 2019(18):4-5.